Workshops and Training. Develop and participate in in-house workshops and other training programs and conferences on negotiation, legal decision-making and risk analysis, dispute resolution, mediation, litigation and legal management.

Over the past twenty years, have had a primary role in design and as a faculty member in more than 100 such workshops and other programs for corporations, government agencies, law firms, bar associations and judicial conferences.

Other Consulting Assistance. Although practice is now devoted exclusively to providing neutral dispute resolution assistance, in the past have provided consulting and other analytic assistance in a wide range of projects aimed at cost-effective dispute handling and resolution, as well as at broader legal management issues.

Dispute-related and legal consulting activities have included:

- The development of a more systematic approach to the settlement of a large class of major product liability lawsuits, including the use of ADR.
- Assistance in the design and development of procedures for negotiating and settling large numbers of asbestos claims.

- A research project to develop mechanisms for cutting the costs of asbestos disputes;
- A project to develop better procedures for Superfund enforcement and for the negotiation of cleanups at Superfund sites;
- Work to help cut an insurer's overall exposure in lawsuits by improving marketing, underwriting and claim handling procedures;
- A project to reorganize the legal function in a public utility;
- A project to evaluate and improve the legal function in a major financial institution;
- Advice to a major dispute resolution foundation on program development;
- Advice to the same foundation on its program to encourage the development of court-ordered arbitration and other court-annexed alternative dispute resolution procedures.
