

RESUME
OF
PAUL D. HOGAN, JR.

Present Occupation and Specialities:

Paul D. Hogan, Jr., is a partner with his wife, Janet Hogan, in the Knoxville firm of Hogan and Hogan. Since 1991, they have engaged in a civil litigation practice involving a full range of personal injury and property damage tort litigation, including medical malpractice, product's liability, and construction litigation and defamation cases. Although until about the year 1997, much of his work was for defendants; Paul now devotes all of his practice to mediation.

Education:

Paul Hogan, Jr., was born and raised in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. Paul graduated from Xavier University in 1966 with a Bachelor's Degree in history. Paul entered the United States Army and was discharged as a First Lieutenant after serving a tour in Vietnam. Paul worked in the hospital equipment business for a short period of time before entering law school. Paul graduated from the University of Tennessee Law School in 1973 and went into practice with J. D. Lee and Associates in Madisonville, Tennessee. Paul left that employment and was a member of the law firm of Morton, Lewis, King and Krieg for approximately 10 years. For the next five years, Paul was with the law firm of Lowe, Hogan, Shirley and Yeager and since 1991, has practiced with his wife in the law firm of Hogan and Hogan.

Paul is a Board certified civil trial specialist and Rule 31 mediator and has conducted over 2,000 mediations.